Nakasone cites APPU importance

KOLOMIA, Ponape - Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone cited the importance of the Asian-Pacific Parliamentarians' Union as a possible means of communicating with his office, during his unofficial visit Sept. 28 with the three Micronesian presidents, according to FSM President Tosiwo Nakayama.

"Nakasone hinted that the APPU has direct communications with his office and suggested that the Micronesian governments take advantage of the opportunity," Nakayama said.

FSM Congress Speaker Bethwel Henry, who attended the 45-minute meeting with Nakayama and presidents Amata Kabua of the Marshall Islands and Haruo Remeliik of Palau in Nakasone's residence, said the prime minister called it "the beginning of a new era between Japan and the three Micronesian governments," according to a Pacific Daily News report.

Nakayama said that the meeting was historic in the sense that it was the first meeting of a Japanese prime minister with the presidents of the three emerging Micronesian nations.

The Speaker and three presidents visited Japan at the invitation of the APPU national group and Asian Friendship Association.

The three presidents hosted a reception Sept. 29 in the Keio Plaza Hotel in Tokyo for the diplomatic corps there, Diet members and Japanese businessmen which was attended by 240 people, including U.S. Ambassador Mike Mansfield, according to FSM Tokyo Liaison Officer Jesse Raglmar.

Addressing the reception, Nakayama introduced Raglmar and said, "Because my government attaches great importance to the strengthening of our friendly relationship with Japan, thus I am happy to inform your excellencies that the Federated States of Micronesia has established a small and modest office in Tokyo to assure sustained and expeditious exchange of economic information between Japan and the (FSM)."

Health care Plan endorsed

KOLOMIA, Ponape - State and national health service officials endorsed the proposed National Health Care Plan during a workshop held here Sept. 24-27, according to an FSM Health Insurance Committee member.

The plan, which includes universal coverage of all FSM residents and payroll deductions to cover the premiums, was scheduled to be considered during the Sixth Chief Executives' Conference being held Oct. 10-17 in Ponape.

The health service officials recommended that the plan be implemented over a three-year period and that the present committee be expanded to include state officials, according to the committee member.

"If the Chief Executives endorse the concept of the NHCP, the committee will recommend its own expansion to that of a state-national task force to 1) refine and revise parts of the proposal and draft legislation, 2) review and revise the draft regulations currently under review by the present committee and 3) outline specific steps necessary for the NHCP's full implementation," the committee member said.

FSM Health Services Chief Elieu Pretrick said the plan will improve the health care delivery system by providing additional revenue to cover medical referrals which would have to be certified by physicians and paid for from the insurance premiums, rather than from hospital operations funds.

In addition to Pretrick, the workshop was attended by Lynnette Araki and Amado Elymore of the FSM Health Services Division; state health services directors Mary Figir of Yap and Dr. Alexander Panuelo of Ponape; Truk State Hospital Administrator Gary Stovall; Kosrae State Health Planner Livingston Taulang; FSM Budget Officer and Health Insurance Committee Chairman Del Pangelinan; Assistant Budget Officer Ross Crowlet, and Northern Marianas Health Planner Juan Babauta who attended as an observer.

ional Offshore Tuna Fisheries Association of Japan, the Japan Far Seas Purse Seine Fishing Association and the Federation of North Pacific District Purse Seine Fisheries Co-operative Association of Japan using the formula agreed to by the national and state governments for distribution of funds under the Compact of Free Association.

The resolution would divide the money giving Kosrae 7.68 million yen, Ponape 17.28 million yen, Truk 25.86 million yen and Yap 9.18 million yen.

During the third special session in August, a committee report on a resolution dividing the goods and services was defeated due to disagreement over the distribution formula.

Senator Elias Thomas of Ponape and 10 other members introduced a resolution expressing concern over the sudden illness of Senator Kalisto Refalopei of Truk who was admitted Oct. 9 to the Ponape State Hospital reportedly suffering chest pains. Refalopei remained in the hospital for observation and treatment.

Also introduced by Senator Isaac Figir of Yap was a resolution requesting the FSM President to initiate discussions with Republic of China and its fishing industry officials to eliminate the frequent, recurrence of illegal fishing activities in FSM waters by Taiwanese vessels.

The resolution cites the recent seizure of two Taiwanese boats fishing illegally in FSM waters and notes complaints which by the Yap state government has received from its outer islands residents regarding foreign purse seiners and longliners sighted apparently fishing illegally within the state's waters.

In other action, the Congress filed a bill to increase Social Security quarterly taxable wages, the minimum quarters of coverage and the penalty for delinquent employers.

It adopted a resolution expressing sympathy and condolences for the death of Ponape Lt. Gov. Strik Yoma.

effect on the effective date of the Compact.

The agreement establishes a schedule for submitting three-year budget estimates and for the draw-down and allocation of Compact funds.

The agreement also provides for financial management and reporting systems which include the President transferring to the Federated Development Authority all capital account funds received from the U.S. under the Compact and authorized by the governors for investment purposes.

The development authority investment funds will be management by the FSM Finance Secretary based on policies set by the authority's board of directors which will include the President and four governors.

Seek all U.S. programs

KOLOMIA, Ponape - A unified position recommending that all U.S. federally-funded programs be continued under the Compact of Free Association was reached during a Sept. 25-26 Ponape State Leadership Conference, according to a State Information Office release.

Gov. Resio Moses was to present Ponape positions to the Sixth FSM Chief Executives Conference to be held here Oct. 9-17.

A Ponape position on internal budget and financial procedures under the Compact was to be finalized by Oct. 1, according to State Planning, Programming, Budget and Statistics Administrator Ishlen Joseph.

Ponape will receive more than $8.2 million in fiscal 1984 federal funds, including $3.5 million in Farmers Home Administration funds for rural development and $3.4 million from the U.S. Education Department which provides for employment of 335 Ponapeans.

Other federal programs which the Ponape leaders want continued are health services, Community Action Agency, Head Start, Legal Service Corp., Upward Bound, Micronesia Bound, Community Development Block Grants and the Job Training Partnership Act.

None of these programs are continued under the Compact, but the U.S. Senate is considering a joint resolution to enact the Compact which would continue the FMHA, Legal Services and National Health Services Corps programs, according to the release.

The agreement states that the purpose of the authority "is to provide an effective institutional framework for the establishment of overall development goals, policies and strategies of the nation; to rationalize and coordinate development efforts, so that state and national development programs will be complementary and mutually supportive," and to share information and technical resources "to ensure adequate program and project evaluation, design and implementation."

The anti-nuclear dumping resolution cites the marine environment as the nation's most valuable resource which is essential to preserve for the benefit of Micronesians; the FSM Constitution prohibition against radioactive and other harmful substance testing, storage, use and disposal within its jurisdiction without expressed national government approval; the inability of the world-wide nuclear industry to provide technically feasible safeguards against contamination, and the right of people in the FSM and Pacific basin to "enjoy peaceful social and economic development free from the threat of environmental pollution."

The resolution reaffirms the FSM constitutional opposition to intentional dumping and storage within its waters and opposition to "the disposal, discharge or storage of nuclear wastes or other substances anywhere within the Pacific basin."

The Chief Executives agreed to the continuation of the U.S. military Civic Action Teams in 1985 as part of an agenda which includes the National Development Plan working draft and the proposed National Health Care Plan.

It also includes national criminal code amendments, health care management and supplies procurement, medical referrals, Compact lobbying and transition issues, Community College of Micronesia status under the Compact of Free Association, computer information transmission, state communications transmission, telecommunications, environmental protection, immigration and labor law, civic action project funds management and accounting air transportation and the proposed Federal Development Authority and others.

Pohnpei Constitution effective date set for Nov. 8

KOLONIA, Ponape - Nov. 8 became the effective date of the Pohnpei Constitution when Gov. Resio Moses declared Oct. 9 the constitution ratified by 59 per cent of the voters in the Sept. 24 referendum, according to a Ponape State Information Office release.

The effective date of the constitution is 30 days after the governor officially proclaims the referendum results, according to the transition law enacted by the Ponape State Legislature, and the constitution officially changes the name of the state to Pohnpei when constitutional government begins Nov. 8.

Ponape will become the third of four FSM states to begin constitutional government, following Yap and Kosrae. A referendum date is pending in the Truk State Legislature.

Moses also signed Oct. 9 into law a measure to fill vacancies of governor and, or lieutenant governor which was passed by the legislature which recommended that the lieutenant governor's post vacated by the death of Strik Yoma be filled by a special election held at the same time as elections for three new seats added to the legislature by the new constitution.

The bill enacted after Mr. Yoma was found dead Sept. 2 in Honolulu amends the 1979 general election law to authorize the governor to call a special election for the lieutenant governor's post, if it is vacated more than one year before the end of its term, or appoint a replacement with the advice and consent of the legislature, if vacated less than one year of the next regular election.

The next gubernatorial and legislative elections are set for November, 1987, by the new constitution.

Moses is expected to call a special election for lieutenant governor at the same time he sets elections for three new seats in the legislature, according to other sources.

The vacancy bill provides that when both the governor's and lieutenant governor's posts are vacant the legislature speaker shall become lieutenant governor and acting governor and call a special election to fill the positions, if more than one year is left on their terms.

If less than one year is left, the speaker becomes governor and appoints a lieutenant governor with the advice and consent of the legislature.

While the speaker is serving as acting governor, or governor, he would vacate his legislative position and a temporary appointment would be made by the chief executive of the municipality where he was elected with the advice and consent of the municipal council.

If the speaker lacks qualifications for the governor's office, the vice speaker, or parliamentarian would become acting governor, and if they lack the qualifications, the legislature would elect one of its members.

The bill also provides that when both the governor and lieutenant governor are to be absent from Ponape, they may designate a cabinet member to serve as acting governor upon written notice to the speaker and state court chief justice.

In other action by the Third PSL during the third regular meeting of its first regular session, it authorized $10,000 to cover membership fees and expenses of its members in the Association of Pacific Island Legislatures; authorizing funding for the Aramas Kapw Micronesia Bound, Inc., and Ponape Aging programs, and authorized $19,000 to supplement the Farmers Home Administration operating costs and $65,000 for the state's participation in the Micronesian Trades Apprenticeship Program in Guam.

Moses item vetoed the expense provisions by revising the amounts for the legislature's contingency fund which was $20,000 in fiscal 1984 from $30,000 to $15,000; the standing committees on Finance, Judiciary and Governmental Relations, Education and Cultural Affairs and Health and Social Services from $10,000 to $5,000 each, and the Resources and Development Committee from $20,000 to $10,000.

Fiscal 1984 appropriations for each standing committee was $10,000.

The governor also reduced the official expense allowance to be divided equally among the legislators, which was $40,100 in 1984, from $100,000 to $50,000, and the expense allowance for three new legislators to be elected under the constitution from $11,250 to $3,750.

the principle of "fair plan and sound government" and were not meant to be an unnecessary intervention into the internal operations of the legislature by the executive branch.

Moses also signed into law Oct. 1 an interim authorization for the use of U.S. Interior Department grant funds during the first two quarters of fiscal 1985 which began on that date.

According to the law, the state government can use only up to 50 per cent of the amount authorized for fiscal 1984, but funding for medical supplies, referrals and utilities may go up to 70 per cent of the fiscal 1984 authorizations and an additional 3.5 per cent above the 50 per cent is authorized for personnel step increases.

Second Taiwan fishing boat nabbed

KOLONIA, Ponape - The FSM is bringing civil and criminal charges against a second Taiwanese long-line fishing boat allegedly caught fishing without a permit in Yap state, according Security and Investigation Chief Joe Race.

The 35-foot lavender traditional Chinese wooden boat was caught during the week of Sept. 24 five-10 miles inside FSM waters between Ngulu Atoll, Yap state, and Palau national waters and boarded by the crew of the Arctic surveillance boat which escorted it to Moen, Truk, where the catch was confiscated and sold and the captain and three crew members jailed.

They were arraigned Oct. 5 in the FSM Supreme Court in Truk and released Oct. 6 to their boat.

FSM Public Defender in Truk, Mike Powell, reported that the crew said through an interpreter that the boat is owned by the captain, Lin Yin-Tu, and that they were drifting while trying to repair the engine that pulls the fishing lines out of the water, er, not realizing that they were in FSM waters.

FSM agents on the Arctic captured a 49-ton Taiwanese longliner, CT3-3182, about 180 miles southwest of Yap proper on Aug. 20 and escorted it to Colonia, Yap, where the catch was confiscated and civil and criminal charges were pressed.

Senator Isaac Figir of Yap introduced in the Third FSM Congress fourth regular session which began Oct. 9 a resolution asking the FSM President to initiate discussions with Republic of China and its fishing industry officials to eliminate the frequent recurrence of illegal fishing activities in FSM waters by Taiwanese vessels.

The resolution cites the seizure of the two Taiwanese boats and notes complaints which the Yap state government has received from its outer islands residents regarding foreign purse seiners and longliners sighted apparently fishing illegally within the state's waters.
