COMPACT MEETING HELD IN HONOLULU

KOLONIA, Pohnpei - Federated States of Micronesia Status Commission Chairman Andon Amaraich and other FSM officials concluded a meeting with the U.S. Ambassador Fred Zeder and other representatives of the U.S. Administration held April 21-25 in Honolulu regarding matters related to implementation of the Compact of Free Association and the additional agreements required by the U.S. Public Law 99-238, according to Chairman Amaraich.

While some FSM Status Commission members expressed fear of acrimonious meetings before they left Honolulu, the outcome of these discussions, for the most part, was favorable, Amaraich said.

Discussions during the weeklong meeting included: preliminary U.S. Government comments on the FSM First National Development Plan; U.S. Congress appropriation of Compact funds, and U.S. federal programs, Commission Legal Counsel Greg Swartz said, adding that negotiations were completed on an additional agreement relating to mutual assistance in law enforcement and on modifications to the Fiscal Procedures Agreement as required by sections

Doone leads in early vote count

MOEN, Truk - Former FSM Supreme Court Administration Director Gideon Doone was leading by a margin of 2,353 votes in the runoff election against former FSM Congress Senator Sasao Gouland in an early unofficial vote count in Truk April 29 gubernatorial election as the Tabulation Committee wound up with the majority of the election precincts counted, according to Election Board Chairman Misauo Petrus.

As the National Union went to press, Doone had received 9,832 to Gouland's 7,479; Incumbent Lt.

Gov. Bob Mori received 9,211 or a margin of 1,132 votes over his challenger Saburo Rayphand, who received 8,079 in the Lt. Governor's race, Petrus said.

The unofficial results did not include the ballots from election precincts 11 (Halls) and 13 (Nominweito). Truk election officials said that the combined totals of the two remaining precincts may not be able to make up the difference between the two candidates in the governor's race.

MATSUTARO APPOINTED MOC PRESIDENT

KOROR, Palau - The College of Micronesia (COM) Board of Regents announced April 23 the appointment of Francis Matsutaro, Micronesia Occupational College Dean of Instruction as the new MOC President, replacing Wilhelm Rengiil who resigned in December to become the Republic of Palau Minister of National Resources, a COM news release reported.

The Regents also announced the appointment of Johnson Toribiong as the new Palau member of the Board and that they would continue to seek a summit of Micronesian Presidents on funding for COM under the Compact of Free Association and that they would continue the freeze which they imposed at their January meeting in Pohnpei on all non-essential expenditures, the release said.

The "Actions and Directives" approved at the close of the three-day meeting state that Matsutaro "represents the youthful potential for long-term service as the College of Micronesia discharges its responsibilities to the people of Micronesia."

Matsutaro, 37, was born on Peiliu Island, Palau, and was graduated from Xavier High School in Truk, the University of Hawaii where he received a Bachelor of Education degree in 1974 and the University of Guam where he received a Masters degree in Education in 1984.

He joined the MOC staff as an English instructor in 1974 and became Acting Dean of Instruction in June 1982, and Dean in January 1983.

Matsutaro served as Acting MOC President from the time Rengiil resigned until the Regents named the Rev. Billy Kuartei, an initial member of the Board and its first Rector, at the January meeting to serve as Interim President until a new president was selected.

Toribiong, 39, who was a former Palau senator and District Public Defender practicing law here, replaces Rev. Billy Kuartei whose term expired in January.

Vice Rector Damian Sohl of Pohnpei, who presided in the absence of Rector Alfred Capelle of the Marshall Islands, said "We are at a time of crisis, because of the uncertainty of our funding."

Sohl, who is the Pohnpei State Education Director, noted that he sent letters January 31 to the three Micronesian Presidents, requesting a summit on future COM funding and that Palau President Lazarus Salii responded favorably during his welcoming address to the Board, citing the need to identify Compact and outside funds for the COM system.

The Regents followed up with a dispatch sent April 22 to Marshall President Amata Kabua and FSM President Tosiwo Nakayama, noting that the compacts are expected to be implemented by October 1 and that this will terminate Interior Department funding and phase out U.S. Student financial aid which provided most of the funding for the COM system.

The COM system includes MOC in Palau, the Community College of Micronesia (CCM) in Pohnpei, the COM Nursing School which is being moved from Saipan to Majuro, the College of Tropical Agriculture and Science (CTAS) in Pohnpei and Continuing Education Centers in Palau, Marshalls and the four FSM states.

In the dispatch, the Regents cited the earlier request for a summit and asked the Presidents to send representatives to work with their summit task force to develop a proposed funding plan for COM under the Compacts.

"Because time is of the essence in the matter, the Board of Regents begs your indulgence and hereby most respectfully solicits your views and advice on the desirability of holding such a proposed 'summit' and if acceptable, where and when may such a summit be held," the Regents said.

Sohl said that the Board "pledges to continue its efforts to maintain a unified college," because, "the closing of any campus would be detrimental to us economically and socially."

In related actions, the Regents:

- Instructed COM Executive Director Singeru Singeo to initiate supervisory and staff evaluations for review by the Board of its September meeting in Majuro.

- Requested renovation funding from the Palau Government for MOC dorms, shops and housing.

- Agreed to a Memorandum of Understanding with the Marshall Islands Government for execution of Nursing Training there.

- Authorized a review of land grant endowment fund investments.

- Agreed with the need to expand CTAS Extension and Cooperative Education Services, to entities which do not have them.

- Approved the draft COM master plan prepared by William Kinder to be submitted to the College staff and Micronesian governments for comments by the September Board meeting, and

- Designated the Rector to serve as chairman of the COM delegation to the Pacific Postsecondary Education Council, the release added.

LELU, Kosrae - The Kosrae State Legislature was introduced a bill amending the Kosrae State Code to provide retirement age at 60 for employees in the executive service, according to a State Information news release.

The bill, if passed, will also provide that the implementation date falls on January 1, 1987, the release said.

KOROR, Palau - Palau will host Feb. 2-6, 1987, the Third International Soil Management Workshop being organized by the College of Micronesia, University of Guam and U.S. Agriculture Department Soil Management Service (SMSS), according to College of Tropical Agriculture and Science (CTAS) Associate Director Ruben Dayrit.

Dr. Dayrit met here April 22-23 with Dr. Hari Eswaran of Washington, D.C., SMSS program leader; Dr. R. Muniappan, UOG College of Agriculture and Life Sciences Agriculture Experiment Station associate director, and Palau Minister of National Resources Wilhelm Rengiil to finalize the dates and tentative agenda for the workshop.

Eswaran said that 30-40 Pacific rim and island countries are expected to participate in the workshop on "Management and Utilization of Acid Soils of Oceania."

He said, "One of our objectives in the acid soils workshop is to try to develop a network of collaborating institutions in the Pacific region so resources and activities can be coordinated to reduce duplication of resources."

Previous workshops were held last year in Senegal, West Africa, on acid and sulphate soil management and in March in Thailand on peat lands management.

In addition to COM, UOG and USDA, collaborating institutions include the Australian Centre for International Agricultural Research, the International Board for Soil Research and Management headquartered in Thailand, the U.S. Agency for International Development, the International Benchmark Sites Network for Agrotechnology Transfer headquartered in the United States.

U.S concurrence required prior to implementation

102(a)(b)(c) of the U.S. Public Law 99-239.

"While further work on some matters is still required, I believe that, with the absence of unforeseen circumstances, we can expect to be in a position to implement the Compact upon termination of the Trusteeship Agreement," Amaraich said.

U.S. Public Law 99-239 requires the FSM and the U.S. to enter into additional agreements or modifications to existing agreements in respect to five areas which include: mutual assistance in law enforcement; the submission schedule for economic development plans; General Accounting Office audit authority; the Investment Development Fund (IDF) board of advisors, and exchange of tax information of Compact as modified.

It was decided that the agreements on mutual assistance in law enforcement should track the language of section 102(a) of the Public Law 99-239 exactly, leaving details on mutual assistance to be worked out in future discussions between the FSM and U.S. law enforcement officials, Amaraich said, adding that one exception is to permit U.S. law enforcement officials to participate in direct police arrest actions in the FSM relating to narcotic control efforts, with U.S. participation in specific actions to be determined on a case-by-case basis by the FSM Attorney General.

Amaraich said that while there were numerous technical changes to the Fiscal Procedures Agreement, the primary substantive modifications were the incorporation of a new section on economic development plans and changes to the provisions on annual reports and audits as required by U.S. PL 99-239.

"It is the Commission's belief that the revised Fiscal Procedures Agreement preserves the essential elements of the agreement as originally negotiated, particularly the opportunities for the one-time drawdown of capital account funds to the Federated Development Authority (FDA) and for investment of the Compact funds," Amaraich said.

He said that the revised Fiscal Procedures Agreement must be transmitted to the U.S. Congress for review.

Regarding the IDF board of advisors, Counsel Swartz said that while the U.S. Public Law 99-239 does not contain any provisions regarding timetable for concluding the agreement or for U.S. Congressional review, FSM Public Law 4-13 requires that Compact may not be implemented until after conclusion of the agreement and its submission to the FSM Congress and State Legislatures.

The Commission expressed its position that the agreement should focus solely on the IDF board of advisors as required by PL 99-239 and that the board of advisors should not have a management role with respect to funds, and that if the agreement is to have any policy guidelines on the use of funds, it should do so in a non-binding manner, Amaraich said, adding "the U.S. representatives agreed with many of our suggestions, and committed to developing a new U.S. discussion draft."

Although the representatives of the two nations reviewed a U.S. discussion draft for the exchange of tax information agreement, no specific timetable has been set for further discussions or negotiations on the agreement which was required by U.S. Public Law 99-239 to be concluded and put into effect prior to January 1, 1987, as a condition for extension of the possession tax credit under the U.S. Internal Revenue Code, Amaraich added.

With respect to the FSM First National Development Plan, an understanding was reached with the U.S. Administration representatives that the FSM would file comments on the U.S. preliminary comments, indicating that their concerns on prioritization and the private sector would be addressed in the annual development budget process, and that based on these comments, the U.S. Administration would notify the U.S. Congress of its intention to concur in the plan.

The understanding was consistent with FSM Public Law 4-13 which requires receipt of U.S. concurrence prior to implementation of the Compact, Amaraich said.

Amaraich also said that the U.S. Administration has submitted a Fiscal Year 1986 supplemental budget request to the U.S. Congress which would appropriate additional funding as if the Compact had come into effect on Oct. 1, 1985, subject to certain offsets for previously appropriated Department of Interior funds, prior service benefits, College of Micronesia operations, satellite communications, and capital improvements; the U.S. Administration has also proposed that FY 1987 be treated as the second year of the Compact period.

"The Administration did not request funding for the various add-ons in U.S. Public Law 99-239, including funding for education program transition, prior services benefits, indefinite land use payments, medical referral debts, and communicable disease control programs," Amaraich noted, adding that FSM strongly expressed its position that funding should be appropriated for the add-ons in U.S. Public Law 99-239, particularly for education program transition, as well as for other Trusteeship obligations, including the national capital, the College of Micronesia and war claims.

tion of Compact

In other related subjects, the U.S. Administration representatives indicated that they support an amendment to U.S. Public Law 99-239, which provided for a cut-off of U.S. federal programs in areas of health, education and labor after the enactment date, Jan. 14, 1986, of the Compact, to continue at least until the effective date of the Compact.

The Commission also raised the question of parity with the Compact recently approved in the Palau plebiscite, stating its intention to explore the possibility of seeking advantageous amendments to the FSM Compact consistent with the certain provisions of the Palau Compact, Amaraich added, noting that the question of terminating the Trusteeship Agreement will be raised during the 53rd session of the United Nations Trusteeship Council which opens on May 12.

KOLONIA, Pohnpei - Pohnpei Transfer and Storage Inc. announced late April that it has established an operation division called "Pohnpei Travel Service" to give an alternative selection in travel consultancy for Pohnpeians and others who may plan to travel within Micronesia and throughout the world.

Assistance in fast, efficient travel information and airline ticketing are some of the things offered by this new travel service, Ms. Baybee Moreno, who had extensive experience with Thomas Cook and Sons of London, said.

Moreno said TC&SL is one of the world largest travel agencies in planning and arranging airline tickets and tours for the United Nations personnel in the Philippines, where she formerly worked.

Grads urged to apply Pell Grants

KOLONIA, Pohnpei - All high school graduates and graduating seniors in Micronesia are urged to apply as soon as possible through the College of Micronesia (COM) for Pell Grants to attend Micronesian or U.S. colleges or universities, according to COM Executive Director Singeru Singeo.

This is the last time Micronesians will be eligible to apply for the U.S. Basic Education Opportunity Grants (BEOG) which will be terminated for the new republics and the FSM when the Compact of Free Association with the United States goes into effect.

"We are encouraging all high school graduating students to prepare Pell grant applications and send them out as soon as possible, because the Compact may be implemented as soon as July 1 for the FSM and Marshalls and Oct. 1 for Palau," Dr. Singeo said.

This also is the last chance for Micronesians who have graduated from high school in the past and who have not attended a college or university to apply for the grants, he said.

Micronesians applying for Pell Grants are encouraged to list either the Community College of Micronesia in Pohnpei or Micronesian Occupational College in Palau as one of the three choices of colleges or universities which they wish to attend, Singeo said, noting that after they are certified as eligible, they would be able to transfer their eligibility to an institution outside of the COM system, if they prefer.

"The point is to get their names on the eligibility list before the effective date of the Compact," he said. "Otherwise, they would have lost their eligibility for Pell funding for good."

Information about the Pell Grants and applications may be obtained from COM, MOC or any of the COM Continuing Education Centers in the Marshall Islands, Palau, Yap, Truk, Pohnpei and Kosrae.

The Pell Grants provide up to $2,100 a year for tuition and expenses for each recipient, depending on financial need, for up to four years of fulltime enrollment in a U.S. accredited college, university or vocational school.

This announcement is a public service of the COM system.

Benjamin sentenced

KOLONIA, Pohnpei - Jany Benjamin of Nukuoro Island pled guilty and was convicted of reckless burning when he recklessly started a fire, destroying the home of James Kimel on Nukuoro on Feb. 28, according to National Justice Ombudsman Nickontro Johnny.

Benjamin, 22, was sentenced on April 09 by FSM Supreme Court Chief Justice Edward C. King to Nukuoro jail and fined $250 and was ordered to rebuild Kimel's house, or serve up to nine months.

King told Benjamin to provide all necessary materials to construct Kimel's house, which should be built by him while under the supervision of Kimel, during the period of his imprisonment.

Benjamin is to remain in jail at night and Sundays, but may be released each day Monday through Saturday, to rebuild Kimel's house, Johnny said.

Benjamin was advised that if his food while in jail is provided by his family and friends at no cost to Nukuoro Municipality or the Pohnpei State Government, then he will not have to pay for the $250 fine.

If Benjamin satisfactorily complies with all the conditions, the Court may expunge the record of this case, Johnny added.

Aquaculture workshop held in Kosrae

IEU, Kosrae - An FSM Aquaculture planning workshop to review all past and present Pacific Island aquaculture projects, and to prioritize aquatic species to be cultured and to plan the scope and directions for aquaculture in the FSM was held April 7-9 on Kosrae, according to a State Information news release.

The workshop, which was made possible by grants from the FSM Congress and the United Nations, brought into Kosrae some of the world's leading authorities on mariculture of giant clams and Pacific Island Aquaculture and reached a consensus requesting the FSM National Government to locate its Aquaculture Research and Training Center in Kosrae, the release said.

Extensive discussions were held on management of living aquatic resources, research and commercial aspects of the culture of eucheuma seaweeds, milkfish, giant clams, sponges, mullet and black lip pearl oysters, said the release.

The workshop ascertained that species which are found most likely to be successfully cultured and could show immediate promise for successful culture include: giant clams, seaweed, sponges, milkfish, mullet and black lip pearl oysters, the release said, adding that others, which show promise of cultivation but require significant research and development, include trochus, green shell, grouper and snapper.

Those species which are possible to cultivate but are uneconomical to grow or will require long periods of research and development are: rabbitfish, baitfish, mangrove crabs, shrimp, mussels, mahimahi, oysters, eel and prawn, while technical problems prevent lobster and tuna to be cultured, the release added.
